Spot Sexual Predators

- There are 60 million adult survivors of child sex abuse in the United States
- One in four women and one in six men were sexually abused before age 18
- Our society has become wildly sexualized, and the more sexualized the environment, the more dangerous it is for our children

- Help elect people to local school and library boards who put children first
- Let public officials know that you won't stand for the corruption of our youth

About the Presenters

Tom Hampson has been an investigator for over 50 years, beginning with intelligence work for the U.S. Air Force. Tom then went on to be the Chief Investigator for the Illinois Crime Investigating Commission where he directed an eight-year investigation into the sexual exploitation of children, including the commercial sex trade. Once Tom began to understand the full scope of the exploitation, he realized that law enforcement would never be able to make more than a dent in the problem. Parents must be educated and equipped to more effectively protect their children. Every child today is being sexualized by our culture. They are being desensitized to all manner of sexual activity and being groomed to become victims themselves. We must work together to stop the abuse.

"We need to do something about this. We have to stop the abuse before it happens. The Truth Alliance Foundation, a Christian, nonprofit organization, engages in four interrelated initiatives aimed at addressing this serious issue."

Jack Rigert co-founded the John Paul II Renewal Center in 2007 when he experienced the negative effect that toxic culture was having on his own family. It has only gotten worse. "As our team at the JP II RC was wrapping up a presentation for high-school kids, I asked them if they had anything particular that they would like us to address when we came back for the next session. The topic requested... 'mental illness.' They wanted to know why so many of their friends and classmates suffer with anxiety, depression, gender dysphoria and even thoughts of suicide. My heart went out to them and I knew that parents had to be involved in the discussion."

"We live in troubled times, people are slowly awakening to the fact that something is amiss, not right, out of balance. While currents of evil are visible in nearly every corner of the world, not is more visible than the flagrant attack on our children's innocence."
